GOVERNMENT UNION CAMPAIGN SPENDING (2010-2016)

Public resources are used to funnel union dues and campaign contributions from workers' paychecks to union leaders. Yet, it is a crime for elected officials to use public resources for politics. Public unions should have to play by the same rules as all political influencers.

SOLUTION:

Lawmakers should end this unfair use of public resources to collect political money by passing paycheck protection. Paycheck protection strengthens the rights of teachers and state workers, giving them power over their own money and choice of political association.
